

BRADLEY "PIPE DEAL" BEFORE GRAFT PROBERS

Order Not Filled, Says Witness, Because Of Disagreement

EXTEND HEARING UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Auto Dealer From Wheeling Provides Hilarious Night Session

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 22.—Still chuckling about a hilarious night session, the senate investigating committee turned its attention again today to an alleged state "deal" for concrete pipe which Lee Bradley said was to have netted him $50,000 in commissions. The self-styled former "political contact man" for Gov. Martin L. Davey testified the contract was arranged with F. L. Klingensmith of Detroit after conversations between himself, Governor Davey and Democratic State Chairman Francis W. Poulson.

He indicated, however, that the contract was not fulfilled after he had a disagreement with Poulson.

Hearing Extended
Thanks to an order of Common Pleas Judge John R. King, the committee had until 1 p. m. Wednesday to read into its record the voluminous "documents" and correspondence which Bradley said would show that Davey made "deals" with industrial concerns for campaign contributions.

Judge King continued until that time a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus which took Bradley out of the custody of East Cleveland police. They came here yesterday afternoon for a second time to seize him on a perjury warrant, filed by Governor Davey.

The governor, who has insisted he does not want Bradley taken away until the committee is through with him, did not have an attorney present to contest the continuance.

He predicted in an address at Cleveland last night that the investigation "soon will collapse of its own weight," adding that he would be present in court when Bradley is arraigned before Judge Stanton Adams of East Cleveland on the perjury charges.

Seabright Entertains
More than 100 spectators and members of the committee were treated to a rollicking two and a half hours of entertainment last night by the testimony of Bruce H. Seabright, a Wheeling, W. Va., automobile dealer, whose correspondence with Bradley has been subjected to the committee's scrutiny.

Seabright's story of relations with Bradley, his references to "Mr. Davies" (for Mr. Davey) and his frequent admissions "now don't misunderstand me" frequently set off gales of laughter among the spectators and so amused committee members that they hardly could continue with their questioning.

Bradley had testified that Seabright was designated by General

Hitler Speech Brings Swift Reaction Among European Powers

Viscount Halifax Sir Neville Chamberlain

Anthony Eden leaves No. 10 Downing Street

Events in European chancelleries swiftly followed the critical speech of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler who warned that "persecution" of Germany would not be tolerated, demanded Great Britain yield to Germany's needs for colonies, declared Japan was right in pursuing a war against "Bolshevism" in China. Resignation of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, in refusal to fall in line with the "realistic diplomacy" demanded by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, stirred Great Britain. Eden's resignation was followed by appointment of Viscount Halifax as foreign secretary, and Premier Benito Mussolini's acceptance of British proposals for a conference expected to result in British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. Radio-photos show Hitler addressing the Reichstag from the stage of the Kroll Opera house in Berlin, and Anthony Eden leaving No. 10 Downing Street after tendering his resignation.

2 ARE ACCUSED IN MAIL THEFTS

East Palestine Men Face Arraignment in Federal Court

LISBON, Feb. 22.—Two East Palestine men charged with robbing the United States mails were removed from the county jail here Monday afternoon by federal authorities to await arraignment this week in the federal court at Cleveland.

The prisoners are Theodore Vaughn, 22, and Dean M. Bell, 19, both accused of removing checks from rural mail boxes in the vicinity of East Palestine. Arrested on other charges they both made complete confessions to the federal officers when questioned by Deputy Sheriff John Herman.

Belling admitted taking an insurance check from a rural mail box on January 3. Bound over to the grand jury on a forged accusation, the prisoner was grilled by Herman during his confinement at the jail and allegedly admitted the mail theft.

Vaughn confessed the theft of three checks mailed to old age pensioners, according to Deputy Herman. He was arrested several days ago by Constable Earl Spaulding of East Palestine on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with fictitious license plates and ordered committed to jail in default of a $50 fine.

Spaulding aided the deputy in obtaining Vaughn's confession. The prisoner said he took the checks from the boxes between Jan. 18 and 29, endorsing and cashing them. Vaughn is said to be a paroled convict. He was turned over to James Ruff, parole officer, and taken to Ravenna Monday. When federal authorities filed charges against him later he was removed to Cleveland.

Belling was taken directly to Cleveland by a United States marshal Monday afternoon.

Reports Progress On Water Line Job

Progress on the W. Fifth st. water line job, being completed by relief labor, was reported today by City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff.

The line is being laid on Fifth st. to connect the main lines on N. Ellsworth and Jennings avenues. "The job is about three-quarters completed," the engineer said.

The project has been employing on an average of 10 men daily. Many of the city's men on relief have been given employment within recent days by county WPA authorities at Lisbon, who have increased working forces by approximately 300.

RECOVERY SEEN BY WALL STREET

Trend Gaugers See Scattered Signs Of Better Business

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Scattered signs of sprouting recovery were seen on the business horizon today by Wall Street trend-gaugers.

While no sudden overnight return to the high levels of activity prevailing last spring was indicated, Harbinger of moderate improvement were noted on many fronts in a mid-quarter checkup.

- Hence included:
- 1—Growing demand for raw materials.
 - 2—Reports of better wholesale buying.
 - 3—Some increase in orders for steel.
 - 4—Signs of a break in the automobile trade jam.
 - 5—Widening plans for residential and industrial building construction.

Added up, business analysts assert, they portend eventually brisker business throughout the nation and more jobs for the unemployed.

If the trend continues uninterrupted, these analysts say, some time in the near future it can be expected to reflect itself in an improvement in such important indices as industrial production, now around the low for 1937-38; commodity prices, now only slightly above the low for that period; payrolls, now considerably lower than at this time last year, and bank deposits, now 20 per cent under a year ago.

MISS SIMPSON CHOSEN CLERK

First On Certified List, She Takes Waterworks Office Position

The appointment of Miss Lavina Simpson of 837 Franklin ave. as clerk in the water works department was announced today by Mayor George Harroff.

Miss Simpson, who will assume her new duties Wednesday, replaces Charles Davidson of S. Lundy ave., who resigned last month.

The new appointee was selected because she had the highest grade in the civil service examinations, conducted recently for the purpose of creating an eligibility list from which the board of control could select a new clerk.

The two others certified by the commission were Robert Rheutan, son of Councilman Charles Rheutan, third, Mrs. D. Eugene Parks. A total of 32 persons sought the job through the exams.

"Miss Simpson was chosen upon her merits," Mayor Harroff explained in speaking for the board of control as a whole. "It has been our policy, with one exception, to select the top-ranking person on the certified list submitted by the commission, and we saw no reason to deviate from it this time."

Washington, Too, Went To Clambakes, History Shows

Took A "Nip" Along With Others, Gambled On Billiards, Cards, Had No Children

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Did George Washington ever go to a clambake? How did he feel about the liquor question? Did he have any children?

Your correspondent buttressed an average guy named Joe Somebody on Fifth avenue today to see how much he knew about the man whose birthday he was celebrating.

"Why," said Joe, "Washington was the father of his country. He never chopped down a cherry tree—ahem—or did he? Anyway, he was general in the Revolutionary war and... ahem...."

"And the father of his country," he concluded triumphantly.

Joe didn't know about the clambake, liquor or children matters. Here are the answers:

Washington was born in Virginia—208 years ago. His father operated iron mines and had a lot of farm land. Washington had five brothers and sisters.

Chamberlain Is Confident In Parliament Test; French Fall In Line In Peace Deal

PARIS SEEKING BRITISH PARLEY

Would Outline Common Action For Germany, Italy Agreement

PARIS, Feb. 22.—Sources close to the foreign office said today French cabinet members would propose a conference with Britain to draft common action for friendship with Germany and Italy.

The round table talks—like the visit of Premier Camille Chautemps and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos to London last November—were suggested to provide France with first hand information on Britain's new policies and to reinforce the London-Paris union in face of Berlin and Rome.

Ministers Study Situation
The council of ministers was summoned to Elysee palace to study the situation and to approve new arms appropriations bills to be rushed to parliament. The measures call for expenditure of 10,000,000 francs ($320,000,000).

Delbos, it was said in chamber of deputies lobbies, was ready to follow Anthony Eden out of office if necessary to permit France to fall in line with Britain.

His policies have been tied closely to those of Eden, who resigned as British foreign secretary Sunday over the question of reconciliation with Italy and Germany.

Chautemps was described as considering enlargement of the cabinet to include more conservatives. Foreign ministry sources said that Delbos long had desired an European settlement and had agreed with British ministers in November to seek this end, insisting only on firm guarantees of peace from Fascist powers.

Contacts Russians and Czechs
Delbos was in contact with Russia and Czechoslovakia over implications of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's Sunday speech announcing a German policy of protection for German minorities.

The French government's chief worry was said by foreign office sources to be Britain's apparent abandonment of central Europe and the reported failure of London to reply to a suggestion that Britain and France inform Hitler of their concern over Nazi plans in Austria.

U.S., In Meantime, Extends Scope Of Fleet Maneuvers

Pacific Ocean "Battles" Set Record For Water Covered

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—American naval maneuvers beginning in the Pacific ocean next month, officials disclosed today, will cover more than twice the territory utilized in last year's mock battles.

The maneuvers, largest in the nation's naval history, will progress over 12,000,000 square miles for nearly six weeks.

Last year's war games, highlighted by the theoretical destruction of Honolulu, involved only 5,000,000 square miles.

Secrecy To Be Stressed
The navy high command indicated that the newly-strengthened rules for secrecy on ship construction would be carried over into the maneuvers.

Fleet commanders will have a ruling issued by Secretary Swanson last December, to the effect that "peepers" may be driven off with gunfire, or taken captive.

Nearly 60,000 officers and men—more than half the navy's personnel—will be engaged in directing the 150 warships and 500 airplanes from the Pacific coast to Hawaii and from Alaska to Samoa. The 1937 games involved 139 vessels and 374 planes.

This year the fleet will be spread out to include southern Pacific waters. It will "defend" American Samoa and will try to prevent a flank attack from the south by a Pacific "enemy."

BRITISH DRAFT 3-POINT PLAN

Four-Power Pact Is Ultimate Object Of Prime Minister's Drive

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 22.—Prime Minister Chamberlain launched Britain today on a new course of realism in foreign affairs to bargain for peace with Europe's fascist dictators.

The coldly practical Chamberlain, with cabinet support in casting aside the idealistic Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, also had a pledge of a majority from parliament before debate began on the new policies this afternoon.

A caucus of his conservative party, with support from 33 national liberals, gave the prime minister 410 votes with which to meet the labor opposition's motion of censure. Labor commanded 199 votes.

Hopes For Split
Although there were opposition hopes that rough and tumble debate would split the conservative front and force Chamberlain to resign, the motion mainly provided a glorious opportunity for the opposition to review grievances.

There was no more chance of successful opposition, conservatives declared, than when Premier Stanley Baldwin toppled Edward VIII from the throne in December, 1936.

Chamberlain, taking a step away from the League of Nations machinery so staunchly supported by Eden, chose the speed of direct negotiations in his program designed:

1. Quickly to settle old differences with Italy, in conversations at Italy's request in Rome.

2. Then to find an amicable solution to Germany's demands for colonies.

3. Bring France into what would be a four-power understanding for peace with Britain, Germany and Italy.

Friendship quickly with Fascist Italy was necessary, Chamberlain told parliament yesterday, lest anti-British feeling in Italy rise "to such a point that ultimately war between us might become inevitable."

Bitter Against Britain
Italy has been bitter against Britain since Eden left the fight by which economic sanctions were imposed in an effort to check Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

The British ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth, was expected to return quickly to London to receive Chamberlain's detailed instructions.

POLICE PATROL VIENNA STREETS

Four-Week Ban Placed On Political Demonstrations

(By Associated Press)
VIENNA, Feb. 22.—Hundreds of police patrolled Vienna streets today, especially charged with enforcement of a four-week ban on political demonstrations which went into effect last midnight.

Six Jews committed suicide. Four others entered hospitals suffering from nervous collapse.

These facts illustrated the mounting panic tension in this traditionally gay capital.

Gavely Is Dampened
Gayety has been dampened since Vienna learned the significance of the Berchtesgaden pact of Feb. 12, which admitted Nazi influence to the government of the republic.

The ban on political demonstrations, which included meetings, apparently was to curb displays by Nazis celebrating the new order and counter-demonstrations by Socialists.

Groups tried vainly to stage parades celebrating the new influence of Germany's Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Austria.

Last night workers of five big Vienna factories demonstrated against the Berchtesgaden accord, while in Graz workers chanted the "Internationale." Both anthems were banned by today's new order.

Part of the uneasy feeling discernable everywhere was due to reports of demonstrations planned for Thursday, before and after Chancellor Schuschnigg makes a speech explaining the recent government changes.

Many Are Injured
Last night scores suffered minor injuries in a clash between Nazis and Austrian Fatherland Front members at Graz, but no serious disorders developed. Neither Nazis nor Socialists adhere to the Fatherland Front, the one political party which has legal status and which was exempt from the ban.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Austria's new Hitler-approved minister of the interior, broadcast a warning to Austrian Nazis not to continue the celebrations, which had lasted three days.

"Peace, not trouble, is our watchword in a time when the German nation must exercise its full energy for its honor," he said. "It must not be our program to fight Austrian reconstruction but to cooperate in it."

Arrest 52 Nazis

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Feb. 22.—Fifty-two Nazis were in police custody today following a raid on their party headquarters.

It was believed the arrests marked the start of a Nazi cleanup inspired by advances of the party in Austria.

Those in custody included former Major Francis Szalay and Count Louis Szechenyi, described as Nazi leaders.

Sunday Liquor Sale Brings Fine Of $100

John McCoy, employed at the Casa Loma Inn, 542 S. Broadway, was arrested by police Monday night on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor on Sunday.

McCoy admitted selling a quart of wine the previous day, and was fined $100 and costs when arraigned before Mayor George Harroff this morning.

Police Chief Ralph Stoffer recently issued instructions to all members of the police department that the ban on sales of beer and liquors on Sundays, as well as after closing hours, must be enforced.

WORD OF ONE SYLLABLE

Joseph P. Kennedy, plain spoken fair-haired boy of the new deal—and its No. 1 realist—has set down in words of one syllable the terms of a question most new dealers dodge:

Is it sound practice for government to further unionism at the expense of the enterprise which makes unionism possible by furnishing employment to labor?

Mr. Kennedy, resigned from chairmanship of the maritime commission but not resigned to the strikes which were his constant problem, charges the government is reluctant to provide mediation for shipping because seamen are not completely unionized.

He points out that irreparable damage has been done to American shipping, subsidized with public money, because of labor disorder. Either the industry is ripe for reconciliation and mediation, he has told the senate commerce committee, or "overripe for ruin." Foreign shipping is fattening itself on growing distrust of the reliability of American shipping.

It's a break when a new dealer has the honesty and courage to speak out concerning an issue which critics outside the charmed circle cannot mention without incurring charges of prejudice. The brickbats kept handy to reply to every insinuation that the right to organize American workmen is related to the circumstances which the workmen's employer must deal with in operating his business cannot very well be heaved at Mr. Kennedy, who leaves soon to become U. S. ambassador to Great Britain.

COMING CLEAN

Separating sheep from the goats in the 1938 political roundup begins to look like a problem in Mendelian ratios.

There are Democrats who voted for all new deal sacred cows, except court packing. What's going to be done with them?

There are candidates who voted for four of the seven measures being used as a standard by Labor's Non-Partisan league but voted against the other three. Are they regular fellows or aren't they?

No doubt, political bosses and compact minorities will be able to make up their minds in all these cases, but it may be questioned broadly whether they can make up the minds of voters by splitting hairs to determine who is a sheep and who is a goat.

The outcome is important for this reason: Since 1936 there has been a revival of the spirit of independence in congress; voters this year will decide in the cases of all U. S. representatives and a third of the senators whether saying "Yes" whenever the boss says "Scat" is more praiseworthy than saying "No" if a congressman feels that way about an issue.

When absolutism is rampant in politics, as it was in the United States during 1932-36 inclusive, legislators weren't encouraged to have minds of their own.
Voters will decide in 1938 whether to return to that kind of democratic paralysis or back legislators who vote according to their own judgment.

WHERE?

That businessman who told International News Service in Chicago last week he was quitting his business, a fairly large one, because he was sick and tired of taxes probably got a lot of sympathetic attention.

But one detail of his story created a doubt. He said he intended to take a long trip after cleaning up his affairs, "probably to some land where politicians do not know so much about taxes."

That was a thought to chew on over the weekend.
"A land where politicians do not know so much about taxes." Where would that be? And if this businessman could find a place where politicians were still amateurs about taxes, would he want to live there?

Taxes are a terrific pain in the neck; there's no argument about that. But it's a fact that taxes and more taxes go hand in glove with the kind of society which men have created for themselves—a society in which everybody wants something from government but in which, so far, scarcely anybody seems willing to pay the cost of maintaining that kind of government.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "New York
Day by Day" column, by Oscar Odd McIntyre, was prepared by the famous New York writer and distributed prior to his death.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—These are drab days for the shake-down wenchers. Or as the late Nathan Burkan elegantly labeled them, "Hours of the hist."
In the unboomed days there is a record of one Caliph paying a charmer $100,000 hush money yearly over a ten year period.

Almost any jovial convention delegate on a night out was good for a gouge to head off an exposure to the little woman back yonder. Flats were maintained to jockey innocents to tea, compromise them and then whack-up with some conscienceless shyster who had the papers all ready to sign.

The real k. o. came when the anti-breach of promise law was passed. Prior to this, millions were coughed up annually by those who shrank from the smear of headlines. Rascals who called themselves lawyers indulged every trick to terrorize victims of minor indiscretions.

Today a vigorous prosecuting attorney, in contrast to former official diffidence that smelt to heaven, has a sympathetic ear for those who become targets for the most despicable of all human creatures—the woman blackmail. A number of them are already heading for prison.

The Roy Howards' daughter Jane has been caught up in the romantic excitement of the print shops and has turned to journalism with the enthusiasm of an entire female hockey team. She comes by her instincts naturally. Her mother had newspaper training, her father became one of the foremost publishers, and her aunt Alice Rohe, is an expert writer for the press and magazines. Miss Howard is now attached to the Honolulu Advertiser and on the side turns in a Waikiki Beach personality column that has attained wide following.

The rush, go and distance hazards create strange relationships and acquaintances in the metropolis.
Faith Baldwin, the novelist, and Myra Kingsley, the astrologist, for instance, are long established friends who never met. They were born on the same day of the month, correspond regularly and swap Christmas gifts. Several times they made arrangements to meet, but something came up and so they let it go. For a number of years Russ Cole, the cartoonist, and I have swapped epistolary observations, but have not yet got together. The same, incidentally, is true of Faith Baldwin, and this scribbler.

Indeed, New Yorker frequently sees a friend from San Francisco more often than a friend in metropolitan environs. It has been more than six years since, save for a mutual hand wave at the annual Dutch Treat dinner, have seen T. T. Webster. Our friendship roots back to middle west days and we were billeted together during our first days in the city. We exchange frequent letters, ribaldries, insults and telephone calls, but that's all. And, as in cases of thousands of other cliff dwellers, the der-elictions put no strain on friendship. Just the other day I learned a man I know well for 15 years was living in the apartment building adjoining mine and had for 8 years. Not once during my occupancy have I seen him.

John Barrymore and his wife, Elaine Barry, received little more than a collective yawn upon their recent visit here. Celebrity chasers, generally speaking, gave them the frozen stare and a "So what?"
Barrymore, for years, was swamped by the curious the moment he stepped from his hotel or theatre.
His autograph was once the most desirable of all.
The indifference may mean nothing or a lot. New York frequently cools off this way, to the great bewildering of stars. Maurice Chevalier found himself suddenly a dead pigeon shortly before he returned to France. The star that has turned the town topsy-turvy recently is Sonja Henie. Wherever she appeared the snoopers could be depended upon to put on a show.

M jousts with autograph seekers have been casual and scatter. Once a group of Emporia, Kans., school girls invaded our room on a coast train. Word got around Ned Sparks was aboard. But now and then is a request by someone, conscious of having seen my picture in newspapers and magazines, but not certain of the identity. I try not to notice, and bear up bravely when they glance at the signature and look so disappointed. But, after all, they asked for it, for goodness sakes!

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, February 23

A very lively and prosperous day is forecast from the prevailing planetary influences. There is much to be gained from constructive efforts and hard work, especially in the launching of new projects of importance. These may attract the substantial cooperation of large interests or influential friends, but it would be well not to become entangled in schemes or dubious investments. An element of the subtle or underhand menaces financial safety. Anxiety about an elderly woman is indicated.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very active and prosperous year, with much stirring in new business or the launching of bold propositions.
These may gain the support of big business or the capital of old friends, but certain secret or underhanded transactions should be avoided.

A child born on this day may be energetic, competent and ambitious. It may attract the indorsement and financial support of elders, and friends of prestige and position.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Fainting

RECENTLY I visited a friend who was convalescing in a hospital.
He had witnessed a serious accident, the shock and excitement of which caused him to faint. As he told me he struck his head on an iron railing.

My friend told me he was susceptible to fainting. He has had this weakness ever since early childhood. "Syncope," the medical term for fainting, is not at all uncommon, with many, while others rarely, if ever, have this experience. Repeated attacks of fainting is a sign that should not be overlooked.

When subjected to undue and severe strain, some persons are particularly prone to faint. It is a result of certain changes in the human mechanism which interfere with the free flow of blood to the brain. This condition is liable to occur after excessive starvation, severe exertion, hemorrhage, exposure to intense heat, lack of air and marked weakness.

Sign of Disorder

Let me point out that if an individual is subject to frequent fainting spells without apparent cause, it is important that he consult with a doctor. It may be the first sign of some internal disorder.
The doctor will investigate the state of the heart, the circulation, the lungs and other internal organs. If these organs show no signs of disease, it will be decided that the attacks of syncope are due to the nervous make-up of the individual.

Everyone should be familiar with the emergency treatment of fainting. Once you become familiar with this disorder it is easy to recognize the warning symptoms and know what to do in the emergency.

The face of the victim becomes pale or greenish-yellow in color and the lips appear purplish-red.
Cold beads of perspiration appear on the forehead. The victim has a desire to yawn and then suddenly slumps to the ground unconscious.

Detected In Advance

If there is danger of fainting and it can be detected in advance, accidents can be prevented. The victim of frequent fainting spells should sit down and inform a bystander that he is about to faint.

The oncoming attack is suspected if there is a peculiar feeling of nausea and emptiness in the stomach.
Sometimes black spots appear before the eyes.

The head of the victim should be lowered to the level of his knees.
Grasp the back of the head firmly and tell the victim to raise the head forcefully against your pressure. This will bring blood to the head and is likely to prevent fainting. If the victim is unconscious, place him in a recumbent position with the head lower than the body.

Loosen all tight and constricting clothing. As soon as the patient regains consciousness and can swallow, give him a glass of water containing a few drops of aromatic spirits of ammonia.

A survey of motoring expenses of

"Women In Love" by May Christie

CHAPTER XIII

"I mean that I can—and will—make it extremely hard for you if you continue poaching on my preserve. You're well aware of whom I'm talking," said Renita, smiling pleasantly.

Ann felt sick at heart. It was foolish to pay attention to the threat of anyone who had been drinking, though the old proverb and a measure of warning in it that a true word is spoken in it was a true word.

Uncertain what to do, she was thankful to see Miss Shellfish. Buyer of Misses' Dresses, approaching Renita and herself.

Ann moved hastily off. One look at her Head of Stock and the Buyer her cue.

"You're not yourself, Renita. You look terrible. Whatever Mr. Bradley will say when he sees you—and he's liable to come in here any minute—I can't think. Go on out to the dressing room and take a cold shower. Then I'd advise you to go to the beauty-parlor, and relax while you're having a facial. You really need it. If anyone asks for me, I'll say I sent you to the Stock room."

Kindly Miss Shellfish might be that she had backbone. There was no denying her.

Shamefacedly, and hoping that a Deliafelt chit might be sporting high not to tattle, Renita devoted to the beneficial effects of the orange-cold water.

Meantime, Miss Shellfish was exulting on the various qualities and prices of the dresses, to Ann. You know it's awfully important, dear, for me to have my selling co-operate with me. I can't have friction. My! it isn't easy to be a buyer, as one day you'll find out for yourself, for I'm sure you're never and ambitious, and I'll go ahead with the best. You see, a buyer first of all has to sell her wares on the floor, so that in turn she may sell her customer."

Now these somewhat odd expressions were beginning to be intelligible to Ann, though at first they had perplexed her.

"A buyer, you see," continued Miss Shellfish, "has also to sell a dress to the merchandise manager, and all down the line. Mr. Bradley is a swell fellow, and we're all very fond of him, but he has no sympathy with incompetence."

Ann couldn't bear enough about Mr. Bradley, and urged Miss Shellfish to continue, but she was off on a different tack.

"It isn't all beer and skittles, by my means, and especially when an attractive, capable girl comes here to work. There are plenty only too ready and willing to make trouble, you know! That's what she has to contend with. Lies! Running to the boss with tales of this and that!"

"I won't mention names, but I've already had you've had your troubles, my dear child. But don't let them down you. You know the truth always comes out in the end, and if your conscience's clear, you'll be the winner." She moved to attend a customer who had just come in.

Miss Shellfish's tactics were extremely diplomatic, even to the point of flattering the customer. She admired her bag, her hat—Ann overheard it—and presently she had

"I don't care, I'll wait for you." As he said the words, the velvet portiere swished open and there stood Renita.

sold her two dresses for her daughter.

"I'm learning how it goes!" thought Ann.

She avoided the restaurant at lunch, fearing to run into Gordon Gavin.

The afternoon went on. Four of Ann's girl friends, rallying to her call, arrived in the department.

They had lunched at "21," that fashionable cafe, and, by their hilarity, had evidently consumed a good many cocktails.

Their jokes, their bright laughter, rang through the salon.

"Will I get in Dutch for this?" thought Ann. She became more alarmed when she saw the merchandise manager watching her party!

"For the love of Pete, buy something, girls! You want to get me fired?" she whispered.

"Where's the Big Bad Wolf?" One of them swung around. Sighting the merchandise manager she gave a little scream of joy. "Why! if it isn't Paul Bradley!"

She danced up to Paul, making big eyes at him.

He smiled. He recognized her as one of the young girls who had gone to "Le Cochon Qui Rit" in Mrs. Dittmar's party after the Ice Carnival.

Meantime, with burning cheeks, Ann was busy herself with sales. The girls went into the fitting rooms, tried on the dresses, and presently Ann had sold half-a-dozen.

Not bad for a novice. Later that afternoon, she sold two more. The buyer seemed pleased.

have said that, except that I knew you were friends, and it isn't fair to suddenly give her the go-by. It's unkind of you, Gordon."

In front of the long mirror, he swung her round.

"You really think she's anything to me? If you do, you're crazy, Ann. Don't you know how I feel about you?"

The glowing look in his eyes spoke volumes, as did his catching breath, the tight grip of his two hands.

She felt suddenly awfully sorry for Renita Parrish, and equally sorry for Gordon Gavin.

People wanting what they could not get. After the unattainable!

Had she not come here to work, perhaps—who knows?—Renita, in his loneliness, would have gained his affection in the long run?

"Gordon, I wish you'd be nice to her. I—think she's—worried."

"You mean she's drinking her head off. Is that a recommendation?"

He shrugged distastefully, dropping her two hands, but barring the exit, and staring truculently at her, like an annoyed small boy.

"You're behaving," she said, between laughing and crying, "as if we were at a pink-tea party!"

"Then we'll have it tonight. If a movie doesn't appeal to you, I'm willing and able to take you to that hang-out of your sister's—whatever it is name?"

"The Laughing Pig." No, it costs too much, and I don't like the crowd. I'd sooner go to a less expensive place," she told him desperately.

"Okay. It shall be as you say." His face lightened. "That's a promise, Ann. I simply can't bear it if you disappoint me."

"Spoilt boy! I may have to work late."

"I don't care, I'll wait for you."

As he said the words, the velvet portiere swished open, and there in the aperture stood Renita Parrish.

Cutting Down on Overhead

Or maybe the three gentlemen, prominent in what is known to fans as the grunt and groan industry—and to the rest of America as wrestling—also just on a diet. They are (left to right): Pietro Gobbo, ex-Champion Wladek Zbyszko, and Wladek Cyganiewicz. They ordered one short milk as the S. S. Manhattan, bringing them to America, steamed up New York Bay, then drank it through three straws.

Curfew Goes Into Effect In Canton

CANTON, Feb. 22.—Safety Director R. A. Bauhof today issued orders, to take effect tonight, to all policemen to question anyone seen on the streets here after 11 p. m.

If the person cannot give a reason for his presence on the street and show identification he will be brought to police headquarters for questioning and may be held on a suspicious-person charge.

Bauhof said the new order was part of a determined campaign to stop burglars and purse-snatchers who have pulled numerous jobs in Canton in the last few weeks.

Questioning of a suspect on the street last week led to the arrest and later to the confession of a burglar who admitted having broken into 2,000 homes in Canton in the last 12 years.

Floods Threaten Arkansas Levees

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 22.—Nearly 2,000 workers fought today to save levees around this city from the pounding of the flood-swollen Arkansas river.

Renewed rainfall added to the problem confronting WPA workers rushed to the endangered area.

The principal danger point was at a bend in the river north of the city, where a crevasse in the levee threatened inundation of railroad shops.

Emergency crews dumped tons of gravel and rock into the swollen stream just above the crevasse attempting to deflect the current.

The Arkansas was falling west of Little Rock but the crest of 32 feet was not expected here until tomorrow.

Theater Attractions

Dolores Del Rio and George Sanders, featured in "International Settlement," the State theater's attraction Wednesday only.

The Wednesday-only feature at the State is "International Settlement," a story of war-ridden Shanghai, where the lives of seven people are involved with national events.

George Sanders, English actor, who has scored definite success in American films, is teamed with Dolores Del Rio. The two played together in the recent "Lancer Spy," World war story.

Dick Baldwin, June Lang, Ruth Terry, John Carradine, Keye Luke, Harold Huber and others are seen in the cast.

Ignore Warning

A handful of adventure and danger-loving Americans defy the warning of their government to get out of blazing Shanghai.

Each has a reason for ignoring the warning and remaining behind the barricades where refugees from the stricken metropolis desperately seek safety. Dolores De Rio is a glamorous figure of mystery. An American soldier of fortune, George Sanders, in the Far East as a flying instructor, remains to tempt death.

Dick Baldwin is a daring newsreel cameraman, daring the flying destruction of the bombardment to get his pictures and to find romance with June Lang, beautiful American tourist who proves a champion under fire.

Their tangled lives and loves in the battle area, against a background of all the color and drama that pervades the East today, make the picture's theme interesting.

"The Buccaneer" with Frederic March in the title role, concludes tonight at the State.

Paul Muni and Bette Davis, each a winner of the coveted Academy award for fine performances, head the cast of "Bordertown," which plays a return engagement at the Grand theater Wednesday and Thursday. Margaret Lindsay and Eugene Pallette have featured roles.

Nudists Lay Claim To Washington Now

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Now it's the nudists who want to see George Washington to their "relatively few persons," writes Dr. Arthur Caxton Moore in a nudist magazine, "are aware that the father of our country was seriously considered as a nudist."

But—Moore adds Washington was so regarded by the celebrated American sculptor, Horatio Greenough.

Greenough's statue of the first president, banished from Capitol Hill 40 years ago, stands today in an out-of-the-way corner of the Smithsonian institution.

It presents Washington with right hand raised—like an umpire calling a strike, chest bare, and draped precariously in nothing but a sheet.

Washington, Dr. Moore explains, was a paragon of frankness and simplicity, and an outdoor man who often as not found occasion to go swimming out in the country.

Down in Fredericksburg, Va., fading yellow records record the complaint that some female slave pilfered the clothes of one George Washington while he was swimming in the lazy Rappahannock.

Bathing suits—as everyone knows—hadn't been invented then.

LINDSEY FINDS WRIGHT'S SANE

Removes Last Barrier To Freedom For Slayer of Wife and His Best Friend

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Paul A. Wright, slayer of his wife and friend, John Kimmel, remained in the county psychiatric ward today, but the last barrier to his ultimate freedom had been cleared.

Superior Judge Ben B. Lindsey held yesterday that Wright is sane, therefore entitled to return to life among his fellow men.

However, he said he could not liberate him for five days, to give the district attorney's office an opportunity to move for a jury trial on his present mental condition.

J. Miller Leavy, deputy district attorney, said such action would be "ridiculous. This hearing settles the matter as far as the district attorney's office is concerned."

Wright was convicted of manslaughter by a superior court jury for shooting his wife and Kimmel Nov. 9. The same jury, trying him on his plea of innocent by reason of insanity, decided he was not sane when he slew the couple.

Under California law, this verdict automatically erased the manslaughter conviction. The hearing yesterday was to determine Wright's present sanity.

At the end of the hearing, the judge asked Wright if he would endeavor to lead an exemplary life and abstain from liquor. Wright answered both questions affirmatively.

Authorities ruled the dismissal justified, but the workers struck.

Tax Revision Bill Set As House Goal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—House passage of a tax revision bill by March 5 became the goal today of the house ways and means committee, which tentatively has approved the bulky measure.

Members said they hoped to bring the bill before the house early next week. Democratic Leader Rayburn said debate should require three or four days.

A 15-to-10 vote against eliminating a special surtax on family-owned or closely-held corporations paved the way for committee agreement on the legislation yesterday.

Two major features of the bill—provisions easing the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes—received committee approval last week. All the provisions and retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Germany Learns Of Soviet Hostility

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, reported today with the announcement the Soviet Union fully reciprocated his hostility.

In the first Soviet press comment on the speech, Pravda said its more emphatic points "confirmed that the policy of German Fascism more than ever tends toward new aggressions, seizure of colonies, incitement to world war and further absorption and oppression of smaller and weaker states."

Hitler's enmity toward Bolshevism would "be repaid in kind," the paper said. "We know how to assume a hostile attitude. We will give it no quarter."

Hitler said Russia was the only state with which Nazi Germany had no desire to cooperate.

Here's a two-piece Modern Tapestry Living Room Suite. The covering is above the average in quality, color is green; the seats and backs are figured material, arms and front are plain material. Suite was bought originally to sell at $110.00—was later reduced to $89.50. On one section of the back, there is a slight irregularity in the weave. Probably that is why it hasn't sold. We are tired of seeing it around. Who will give it a home?

Here is our prize possession. A Modern Plated-back Love Seat, with Down Filled one-piece cushions. We should have given it away long ago with the sale of a Bissell Carpet Sweeper, but we couldn't because it really isn't ours. A manufacturer sent it to us to sell for him. Said it should bring $137.80. Maybe it should, but it hasn't. It's somewhat soiled now, but still one of the finest quality pieces in our store. We'd be glad to get it out of our way and we think the manufacturer to whom it still belongs would be glad to get it.

Here is a two-piece Modern Living Room Suite in Wine color Novelty Mohair. From a construction standpoint, it's one of the best suites on our floor. It was bought to sell at $165.00, but there have been no takers. We thought it would prove to be an excellent seller for us, but when it didn't snap right off our floor like so many of our other suites do, we began to shy away from it; probably didn't give it a fair chance. At any rate, we're tired of it and someone is going to own it at

Did you ever see Betula wood? Our buyer did, months ago, and bought an eight-piece Dining Room Suite in it. It's a bleached wood and loads of people have admired it, just like our buyer did, but to date no one has made the same mistake he did. As a result, we still have it. It will make someone a fine suite. Bought to sell at $162.50. We're tired of having it around, so out it goes for

We thought someone would like this beautiful Solid Bleached Maple Bedroom Suite for their daughter's room. It has been priced on our floor at $119.50, which price the fathers and mothers did not like. If some daughter can sell it to her mother, we are sure her father will not hesitate to pay

We thought we should have a cheap nine-piece Walnut Dining Room Suite. Had visions of selling eight or 10 of them at $126.00. Later reduced to $92.00. So you don't like small figured Red Velvet with a Gold background? Or is it the style of this large two-piece English Lounge Living Room Suite that has made it a slow mover? Although it's one of the finest suites in our store from the standpoint of quality and comfort, it just hasn't sold. Possibly its original price of $285.00 was too high. OHIO SCHOLASTIC CAGE RACE HAS NEW LEADERS

Toronto Takes Over Lead In Class A After Defeat Is Handed Struthers Five

Red Knights Boast 15 Wins In 16 Starts To Top Ohio Scholastic Standings; Enon Of Clark County Is Leading Team In Class B Circuit

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—Ohio's scholastic basketballers headed for the last roundup today with brand new leaders in both Class A and Class B as the result of startling upsets in last week's play.

Toronto's Red Knights from Jefferson county took over the pace-setting berth in Class A with 15 wins in 16 starts as Youngstown Scienceville staged a great comeback to knock Struthers off the top spot, 39 to 33. Scienceville, winner of its first 10 games, dropped the next two to Poland and Youngstown South, but came back to beat Youngstown Rayen 44 to 21, and Struthers.

Newark, 1936 state champion, and Akron North, the 1935 Class A title-holder, were deadlocked in second place with 14 wins in 15 starts, while Hillsboro and New Philadelphia, with 13-1 records, rounded out the list which had felt defeat but once.

Hillsboro, winner of its first 12 before bumping into Greenfield McClain two weeks ago, nosed out Portsmouth, twice victor over the champion Hamiltons, by overcoming a seven-point deficit in the final quarter to win 35 to 35. It was Portsmouth's fifth defeat in 16 tilts.

Mesopotamia, Trumbull county's great Class B team which ran up 19 wins in a row to pace the Junior leaguers a week ago, dropped out of the picture as it absorbed a 26 to 23 setback at the hands of Liberty in the county tournament.

That left Enon, Clark county school, out front in Class B with 21 straight wins, just two under the record the team carried to the state tourney a year ago. Frank Long, former Wittenberg college player, is coach of the Enon team, which is "sparked" by P. and D. Reuger, brothers. Enon won two games last week in the Clark county tourney.

Johnston kept Trumbull county in the spotlight by running its victory string to 20, where it is tied with Graysville of Monroe county. Belle Valley, the potential "Waterloo Wonders" from the Noble county hills, is next with 19 in a row. Groveport has copped 17, New Boston and Pioneer 15 each, Olmsted Falls has 13 and the defending champion Upper Arlington quintet and Canal Fulton have won a dozen. All the other Class B teams have been beaten.

The Class B county tournaments and the regular seasons of the Class A teams wind up this week, as the sectional eliminations are on the books for the weekend of March 5. The district events are on tap the following week-end, and then comes the state classic March 17, 18 and 19, in which the 16 survivors will battle it out at Columbus for the Ohio championships.

The biggest high school crowd of the year is expected to see the southwest district's two toughest teams meet Thursday night at Miami University's gym, the Hamilton-Middletown game being slated to attract about 5,000. The Middies have won 15 and lost two, one to Hamilton and the other to Portsmouth, while the champs have won 14 and dropped two, both to Portsmouth.

Here are some of the league champions: Southern Ohio-Portsmouth; Northern Ohio-Amherst (ninth title in row); Toledo City League-Waite; Buckeye-Tiffin Columbian; Little Big Four-Bellevalley and Port Clinton, tied; Firelands-Margaretta; Central Ohio-Newark; Big Seven-Dayton Roosevelt; Miami Valley-Piqua and Xenia, tied. Several other leagues close their schedules this week.

Perry county, over on the western border, is playing its tournament at Richmond, Ind., borrowing a court there because of inadequate facilities at Eaton, Lanier, Camden, Dixon and Gratiot, first round winners, go back to Indiana this week-end for the title contests. East Liverpool, after a series of setbacks, defeated Girard and Bridgeport last week-end, boosting its stock in the eastern sector; Akron North and West meet Friday for the city championship, now held by Russ Belch's West team; Niles finished its season without a victory; Massillon proved its class by beating Akron East and Alliance—but easily; Canton McKinley, idle last week, had Dover and Warren, both "toughies" carded this week; Tiffin Columbian stamped itself one of the best in the northwest by beating Findlay 32-24; and here are the records of the "top" teams in each class:

ALLIANCE SITE FOR INTER-CITY BOWLING EVENT

Annual Tourney To Open March 1; Salem Teams Will Compete

Bowlers from 37 Ohio cities will compete in the annual Inter-City Bowling association tournament which will be held at the Alliance Recreation alleys in Alliance from March 1 until April 17.

The entry list for the tourney, which is the largest held in Ohio, includes 231 five-man teams, 353 sets of doubles and 697 singles contestants.

Teams will compete in Class A and booster divisions with entries in the latter also eligible for prizes in Class A.

The five-man entry is slightly smaller than it was last year when the tournament was held at Tiffin, but an increase is reported in the number of entries in the doubles and singles events.

Prizes totaling $5,392 will be awarded to winners. Of this sum, $2,500 will be distributed to leading teams in the five-man event and $2,840 will be split evenly among the doubles and singles. Special prizes amounting to $132 will also be awarded.

The total amount of prize money available for this year's tournament is $257 more than last year, the increase being due to additional entries in the doubles and singles.

Findlay registered 30 teams to lead in the number of entries in the five-man event. Other cities entering more than 10 teams are: Alliance, 27; Lorain, 25; Elyria, 19; Sandusky, 17; Mansfield, 15, and Marion, 12.

Three teams from Salem are scheduled to participate in the five-man competition.

J. W. Mays of Alliance, who is employed by the Salem Engineering Co. here and bowls with the Salem News team of the National league, is secretary of the tournament.

The annual meeting of the association which covers 82 of Ohio's 88 counties, will be held early in April.

One of the important items on tap for the meeting will be naming of the site for 1939 tournament. Findlay, Marion, Sandusky and Elyria are bidding for next year's event.

Present officers of the association are A. W. Winterseller of Sandusky, president, and W. E. Thompson of Delaware, secretary.

LOUIS TO PUT TITLE ON LINE

Bomber To Meet Nathan Mann In Warm-Up Bout Wednesday

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—Shufflin' Joe Louis will lay his heavyweight title on the line tomorrow night, an act viewed in certain quarters as extremely foolhardy.

The one-time wonderman of his division faces Nathan Mann, a willing citizen of New Haven, Conn., and many a ring solon has delivered the opinion that the solid Mann has a lot more than the traditional "fighting chance."

The heavy support given Mann is an echo, of course, of the Schmeling debacle and the Farr fiasco. The public's confidence in Louis is shaken.

In training, the Bomber, has been hitting his hardest which is mighty severe. His legs are good and his wind excellent.

This is public knowledge and it makes the support for Mann more baffling.

He hits hard, but not as hard as Louis. His right hand is potent, but it never has carried the viciousness of Max Schmeling's pay-off punch.

The fight is the first heavyweight championship bout indoors in 18 years, and there should be a capacity house at the Garden.

Cooper Is Leading Pro Money Winner

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 22—Harry Cooper was back in the groove again today—the leading money winner of the winter professional golf tour and owner of the lowest stroke average.

The Chicopee, Mass., player yesterday pocketed first money of $1,200 after winning the Crescent City open tournament with a 285, three under par total.

He increased his winter winnings to $2,678.33 and lowered his average to 72.68, posting out Johnny Regetta of Evanston, Ill., who finished far out of the money.

Wolverines Win

DELAWARE, Feb. 22—Winning the closing event, the 440-yard relay, Michigan State's swimming team defeated Ohio Wesleyan university in a dual meet here yesterday, 44 to 31.

Seek Farm Site

BOSTON, Feb. 22—Youngstown, O., is under consideration for a possible farm site of the Boston Bees, says President Bob Quinn of the National league team. Huntington, W. Va., and Erie, Pa., also are being considered.

BIG TEN RACE HITS STRETCH LIST WINNERS IN ALL-EVENTS

Hard-Fought Finish Is Promised In Western Conference

BY EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 22—The Big Ten basketball championship race neared the "stretch drive" stage today, promising one of the hardest-fought finishes in Western conference history.

Iowa's surprising 26 to 25 victory last night over Northwestern brought about a deadlock for the field leadership involving Northwestern and Purdue. Each has won seven games and lost two.

Purdue faces Indiana Saturday, Chicago next Monday and then takes on Northwestern March 5. Northwestern will oppose Ohio State next Monday, then Purdue and must face the strong Michigan squad March 7 at Ann Arbor.

Northwestern's failure to make free throws cost the Wildcats the undisputed lead they had enjoyed. They made only three charity tosses in 15 attempts as Iowa was making good on all of its six chances from the free throw line.

A field goal by Ben Stephens with less than two minutes to go gained Iowa its fifth victory in 10 starts.

Purdue moved into a tie with the Wildcats by downing Ohio State 49 to 36. Jewell Young bagged 20 points to lead his team to a victory.

Minnesota nosed out Indiana 37 to 36. The Hoosiers took a five-point lead late in the game and then fought off a desperate Hoosier rally.

Michigan snapped its losing streak at the expense of Wisconsin, 58 to 29. The Wolverines took a quick lead. John Townsend scored 17 points for the victors.

Chicago's Maroons clung to the victory trail by coming from behind to trounce Illinois 43 to 39 for a second victory this season in nine games.

The standings:

Purdue	7	2	778	355 306
Northwestern	7	2	778	310 285

BOWLING RESULTS

Several upsets marked Quaker City league activity at the Grate Recreation alleys last night as bowlers returned to action after a week's idleness because of the tournament.

The cellar ranking East End team turned in the most surprising performance, defeating the fifth place Economy V-8's in three games. The Salem Motor and Dynafish Buicks also contributed upsets, the former winning two out of three games from Floding & Reynard Drugs and the latter taking two out of three heats from the Harris Garage.

Colonial Billiards remained on top of the Quaker City standings by winning three games from the Tigers.

The Ohio Edison increased its lead in the American league at the Masonic alleys, winning three games from the Electric Furnace while the second place Fernengel's Colts were limited to two wins over the Forgotten Five.

In other American loop matches, Mullins Foremen took two out of three games from the Masons and Reich Sports won two out of three from Mullins Press Room.

Robert A. Merwin Named Chairman In A.A.A. Member Drive

J. H. Sinclair, president of the Columbiana County Motor club, today appointed Robert A. Merwin of East Palestine chairman of a county-wide membership campaign to be conducted by the AAA organization during February and March.

"A systematic effort will be made to acquire every eligible automobile owner of the many services offered by the local motoring body," Sinclair said. "The many complex problems arising from the increased number of automobiles has made AAA memberships not only desirable, but appealing. This fact has been instrumental in a large increase in our membership each of the past three years. A 20 per cent increase marked the year just closed."

The club executive pointed out that the local club occupied the most strategic position in this section of the county, bordering on three states. "It is the figurative gateway connecting east and west, a fact of utmost concern to local business firms. The directors are anxious to maintain a high standard of service not only for the convenience of local members but the thousands of visitors who pass through this section and spend money here."

"The AAA in Washington has expressed a keen interest in the movement by sending E. D. McNelly to assist local club members and directors. McNelly has been connected with AAA for 12 years and played a leading part in placing Pennsylvania with its 137,000 members, first in membership in the United States."

Arrangements are being completed whereby meetings will be held soon in every section of the county to hear McNelly. R. W. Hawley and A. E. Beardmore, local directors, are arranging the Salem meetings.

FRANCE FEARS FASCIST DRIVE

British Act Takes Final
Brake Off Expansionist Schemes

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—British Premier Chamberlain's insistence on pursuing a policy of compromise with Italy and Germany for the sake of peace has plunged France into a dither for fear that the Anglo-French brotherhood of democracy—sole brake on the ambitious expansionist schemes of the Fascist bloc—has gone on the rocks.

Chamberlain's promise of continued loyalty has failed to reassure France. British Foreign Secretary Eden's sensational resignation because of opposition to his chief's policy still sticks in French minds as indicating that England has bowed the knee to dictators Mussolini and Hitler.

"Surrender to Fascism" Others, both at home and abroad, have cried out that Britain has jettisoned cherished principles and surrendered to Fascism. Whatever Mussolini and Hitler may think about it, Rome and Berlin haven't been slow to chalk up an advantage for the Fascists in getting rid of the brilliant Eden.

This young crusader long has been a thorn in the sides of both Duce and Der Fuehrer. They dislike him royally. Chamberlain announced bluntly that he was going ahead with negotiations for an Anglo-Italian agreement. That didn't mean surrender of principle or abandonment of old friends. It was a move essential for peace which must depend on four powers—France, Germany, Italy and Britain.

Idealist Eden's argument has been that the democracies should crack down on the Berlin-Rome axis while the cracking was good. Time alone can tell where the right lies as between Eden and Chamberlain. But the prime minister is noted for his common sense.

David Harum Among Statesmen
He is a David Harum among European statesmen—a shrewd horse-trader. It is safe to say that he will have Italian concessions in the bag before he concludes any agreement with Mussolini, or with Hitler for that matter.

The general impression is that England has washed her hands of central Europe. That would mean there now is little to prevent Fuehrer Hitler from taking over Austria and Czechoslovakia, excepting such resistance as he might encounter from those small countries themselves.

Such an attitude on England's part would also mean the end of French influence in central and eastern Europe.

France's fear of being deserted by Britain is quite natural. She lives in constant dread of attack from Germany.

Pupil-Playwright

Operating Costs

Top 1937 Revenue
In Report By Bell

An increase in the Ohio Bell Telephone company's operating expenses exceeded an increase in operating revenues in 1937 as the result of a larger payroll and other major factors, including higher taxes, which added to the cost of furnishing telephone service, according to the annual report of President Randolph Elde submitted today in Cleveland.

"Total telephone revenues amounted to $41,920,140, an increase of $2,649,264 or 6.7 per cent over 1936," Elde reported at a meeting of the board of directors.

"Although total telephone revenues have increased each year since 1933, they are still $2,443,022 under the peak year of 1930. Total operating expenses, excluding taxes, were $38,426,962 in 1937, an increase of $2,968,775, or 12.7 per cent higher than in 1936."

Pointing out that operating taxes were the highest in the company's history and still continue as a major factor influencing the cost of telephone service, the report said that "taxes assignable to operations for 1937 were $5,695,692, and amounted to $8.55 a telephone for the year, or 71 cents a telephone a month."

Referring to wage and personnel increases as major factors contributing to greater operating expenses, the report said that at the close of 1937 the company had 10,195 employees, an increase of 1,178 during the year.

Although the company had in service 693,430 telephones at the end of 1937, it is still 26,402 telephones short of the maximum development which was reached in 1930.

BRITISH DRAFT 3-POINT PLAN

Four-Power Pact Is Ultimate Object Of Prime Minister's Drive

on how to proceed with the conversations—now that Eden's idealism was discarded.

It seemed certain that Chamberlain alone would dictate the British end of the Italian settlement, with Viscount Halifax remaining as temporary foreign secretary, at least during preliminary negotiations.

British leadership in the Mediterranean, an end to Italian-inspired propaganda in Arab nations, gradual withdrawal of Italian forces in Spain, British recognition of Mussolini's Ethiopian conquest—these are essential points of the settlement.

This sort of deal was supported by the dashing Eden, but he felt Britain was too quick to bargain "rather than that others should make terms with us," and that there would be no progress toward peace "if we allow the impression to gain currency abroad that we yield to constant pressure."

BRADLEY "PIPE DEAL" OUTLINED

Order Not Filled, Says
Witness, Because Of Disagreement

Motors to sell trucks to the Ohio State government as the result of a "political deal" but that NRA regulations prevented consummation of the alleged agreement.

The automobile dealer denied he made any campaign contributions or received any business from the state.

Turned Down, He Says
He testified that at Bradley's behest he asked General Motors to contribute to Davey's 1934 campaign, and the company replied with a flat "no."

Asked to explain an extensive exchange of correspondence and telegrams between himself and Bradley, in which politics, "deals" and the names of General Motors, Davey and Poulson were mentioned often, Seabright replied that he was just "kidding" and "stringing" Bradley along.

He testified he always had been interested in politics, and felt that contacts with Bradley would give him an insight into how "politics and the truck business were operated in Ohio."

Seabright admitted he perhaps "encouraged" Bradley too much, but insisted his sole purpose was to get information. He admitted having a touch of conscience for "misleading him so much" and late in 1934 when Bradley was "desperate for money I gave him $125 for a trip to Florida."

"Why I got information three years ago that you people are getting today," he exclaimed to the committee.

"What information?" Sen. Ver-ner E. Metcalf quickly asked.

He Visits Davey

"About these conditions," Seabright replied. "Now maybe some of those letters I wrote were dumb, while I am not the smartest man in the world, neither am I the dumbest person in the world."

After listening to Bradley's "enormous propositions—he had all kinds of them," Seabright testified he visited Davey in Columbus.

"I asked him," he continued, "Now, Martin, if you're elected are you going to run things on the level?"

"Yes, sir; absolutely," the witness quoted the candidate for governor as replying.

Previously, he testified, he became disturbed by Bradley's accounts of proposed "deals" and wrote to Charles Sawyer, the governor's opponent in the primary election, assuring him "I'd do anything to further his election."

He asserted, under questioning, however, that he did not contribute to Sawyer's campaign.

The charge against Booth was filed by Roy Sommers of Ohio ave., police said.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—"Pigs is pigs" to Farmer J. M. Riley—but pigs is pups to his dog "Shep."

The dog was despondent because her recent litter had been given away. Then Farmer Riley's hog died and left four offspring. Shep immediately took over the task of nursing the pigs. They're thriving.

The United States imported 23 per cent more textile raw materials and manufacturers last year than in 1936 and exported about seven per cent more.

Dramatize Expansion Plan
Announcement of the forthcoming maneuvers served to dramatize the administration's request for a 20 per cent expansion of the navy's fighting force. The house will debate the program early next month.

Rear Admiral William G. D. Bosc, chief of naval construction, told a house committee that the proposed fleet expansion would require 8 or 10 years.

Dubose, questioned by Representative Scott (D-Calif.), said he did not know whether a battlecruiser could enter the Mexican west coast harbor of Mazatlan. Scott said he had read reports that Japan was negotiating to improve the Mexican port.

The Mexican ambassador, Francisco Castillo Najera, said after exchanging communications with the government that such reports were "completely lacking in basis."
